WOULD FALL IN A FAINT

When She Attempted to Work, so Exhausted Was the Nervous System

The Feeble, Wasted Nerves Were Restored and Revitalized by

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Nervous Prostration is a terrible disease to all who understand its symptoms. At times the sufferer slight exertion the dreadful helplessness returns and all strength and vitality seems to leave the system.

This letter from Mrs. Martin very well describes the terrible condition in which many a sufferer finds herself. She also tells how she regained health and strength by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food after all other treatments had failed.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes:—"Before I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition from nervous exhaustion and prostration. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor. The weakness was so great that I could not so much as sweep the floor without fainting, but the nerve food helped me after the doctors failed. It has done wonders in building up my nervous system. I can do my own housework now and washing, and feel that this great medicine has been a God-send to me. I think it is the best of medicines."

The Only Way

An elder, while baptizing converts at a revival meeting, advanced with a wiry, sharp-eyed old chap into the water. He asked the usual question whether there was any reason why the ordinance of baptism should not be administered. After a pause the tall, powerful-looking man who was looking quietly on remarked, "Elder, I don't want to interfere in your business, but I want to say that this is an old sinner you have got hold of, and that one dip won't do him any good; you'll have to anchor him out in deep water over night."—Life.

Extermination of Rats and Mice

If it were generally known that there is no trouble to rid a house, barn or any building of rats and mice by the use of Gillett's Lye, it is doubtful if the article could be made as fast as it would be used for this purpose alone. The process connected with using it is very simple, the plan being to sprinkle a little of the article in and around the holes made by these pests in floors, partitions, etc. In addition to this it is well to use a thin piece of board about a foot square, or even smaller, and make a complete circle of the lye on the board about a quarter of an inch deep, and inside of the circle place some meat or cheese. In endeavoring to get at the bait the feet of the rats and mice will be burned and the whole colony, whether large or small, will immediately disappear from the premises.

The plan is worth trying, but the good kind—Gillett's Lye—should be procured. Refuse the many cheap imitations and substitutes.

Metaphorically Speaking

"Let us nip this monster in the bud before it overwhelms us as an oncoming tidal wave!" shouted the young politician.

"Perhaps," said an experienced campaigner in the back of the hall, "it would be better to smoke it out of its lair before it becomes a festering canker."—Judges Library.

Externally or Internally, it is Good.—When applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil opens the pores and penetrates the tissue as few liniments do, touching the seat of the trouble and immediately affording relief. Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing and will cure affections of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

The President of Switzerland

The President of Switzerland is so hedged about by the Constitution that, except for official purposes and to facilitate the exchange of courtesies and of amicable understandings with foreign nations, he has no more standing than the other six members of the council of which he forms a part. He is elected for one year, has no official residence, and his chief business is to sign the documents of the Bundesrat or Council of Seven. His salary is, in our money, equal to about $3,600 a year, and there is no provision for private expenses, such as traveling or entertaining. He is expected to live in the capital of the country during the year he holds office. His associate members in the Bundesrat get $3,000 a year, and they are elected for three years, their votes having the same force as that of the President.

As a rule the President of Switzerland is before election a member of this council, and is elected to the higher office without opposition; but in 1883 he had a rival, and though he won in the election he was unable to support what in his country is looked upon as an affront, and committed suicide before his inauguration.

In this connection it might be well to note, too, that Switzerland is the one country on the globe where it costs nothing to die, as in certain cantons rich and poor are buried at the expense of the State.—Harper's Weekly.

TOBACCO AND CIGARETTES ARE GIVEN AWAY

At the "Made-in-Canada" Train

The exhibits on the "Made-in-Canada" train, which is now touring Western Canada, are attracting the eyes of thousands of visitors. Many of us are too prone to belittle our own goods and to consider that the word "imported" covers a multitude of virtues. Those who go to see the "Made-in-Canada" goods on the "Made-in-Canada" train discover the fact that the "Made-in-Canada" is a mark of honor.

An exhibit, which is doubly interesting to the men is that of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada Limited, the largest manufacturers of smoking and chewing tobaccos, and cigarettes in the Dominion.

True to their reputation as liberal advertisers, the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada Limited are presenting visitors to the "Made-in-Canada" train, with attractive souvenirs and samples of brands that Western men like—namely "Black Watch" Chewing Tobacco, "Shamrock" Quality Plug Smoking Tobacco, "Old Chum" Pipe Tobacco, "Meerschaum" Cut Plug Smoking Tobacco, "Player's Navy Cut" Cigarettes, "Sweet Caporal" Cigarettes and "Columbia" Little Cigars.

A Neat Coin Trick

Take two pins, one in each hand, and pick up a coin with them by pressing one to each side of the edge. When you have got it firmly held, blow on the coin, and it will revolve rapidly. A coin with a rough edge—a 50 cent piece, quarter or dime—is the best to use. A dime, because the figures on it are smaller than on the other pieces, can be made to spin so fast that it looks as if it were spheroidal instead of flat. The trick is very easy to do, although it may look hard. All that is needed is steady hands.

A great deal of dissatisfaction is being expressed at the manner in which the park was worked up and also to the cost, $25 seeming a large amount of money for all the work done on it. The rough way in which the edges of this plot of ground have been left is also an eyesore, and this amount of money should have covered the whole cost of doing the job right when it was started. If the Council feel that it is not their business to look after this work they should form a committee of the townspeople who do take an interest in the work and give them power to fix it up, although one would naturally think it was their duty when it is the wish of the ratepayers that it should be done right, as it is a municipal affair.

Agricultural Publications

For a number of years there has been a constant flow of valuable information on agriculture, in its several lines, going out from the department of agriculture at Ottawa. In the form of annual reports, special reports, bulletins and circulars, hundreds of publications have been issued, considerably exceeding a million copies a year, and the stream is constantly enlarging. Until recently each of the several main branches of the department sent out their own publications. An advance step has lately been taken in the organization of the publications branch, which is charged with the sending out from one office of all the publications as issued. As a guide to the agricultural public as to what publications may be procured, a full list indicating the subjects treated has been issued in pamphlet form to be sent out to those who apply for it and can be obtained by writing to the Publication Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa

Drew Good Crowd

The Made-in-Canada train which visited Didsbury on Thursday last proved to be a great attraction for a large number of people in the district and it is safe to say that all were pleased to see such a good display of the products of a small percentage of the manufacturing industries of Canada

The train arrived sharp on time and before it was run onto the siding the crowds of people were scrambling by one another to get the first inside glimpse of the train, but no one was allowed on until the train had been placed.

The mayor with two or three of the councillors and a representative of the Pioneer was conducted through the train by Mr. Scully, the manager of the train, and Mr. Braden, the press representative, whose duty it has been to get up a description of each town and district visited for publication.

The train carried an interesting variety of exhibits so arranged as to be of some educational value to those who viewed it. Ten cars out of the twelve were turned over to the decorative experts of the different exhibiting firms, and the result was that instead of having the rough interiors of baggage cars the spectator saw a splendid array of manufactured products covering the floors, walls and ceilings and transforming them into a model furnished house, workshop or salesroom. These composite exhibits were arranged in various ways and were a very important feature of the exhibition as they showed in a practical manner the extent and completion of different lines of Canadian manufacturing.

Mr. F. H. Race of Mitchell, Ont., acted as lecturer in one of the cars where illustrated pictures of the different phases of the country's agricultural and industrial development were shown. He is a good speaker and showed great aptitude for his work.

Unfortunately through poor organization by the Town Council or the lack of a Board of Trade, the visitors were not given a short auto ride into the district the same as was done in other places and which would have given them an idea of the splendid district in which we live. The Citizens Band was out in full force and entertained the large crowd present with several selections.

It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts at each application. Try it and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. Sold by all dealers.

One was Mrs. Thomas Warne, a faded, elegant, middle-aged woman, the widow of a cousin of Denzil Warne, and his housekeeper, and the other was Lillias Morgan, in a dainty gown of embroidered muslin.

Mrs. Thomas Warne, on being introduced to Harry, slipped into a rivulet of polite chatter about Dorsetshire, and America, the disagreeable weather and the beauty of the scenery. Then to his relief, she excused herself on the ground that she had some business letters to write before dinner and some orders to give to the servants, "who quite object to doing anything on Sundays," and with a dignified rustle of her black skirts she left the room.

"Thank heaven, she's gone!" exclaimed Lillias, jumping up from her chair with a gasp of relief. "Isn't she beautifully well-mannered, and a horrible trial to the nerves?"

"She seemed a very amiable lady," Harry observed politely.

"Oh, pray don't talk like that!" cried Lillias in dismay. "If we are going to be friends, don't let's pretend with each other!"

"It seems to me," he said, "that whenever we meet you do nothing but pretend."

"How?"

"In New York, four months ago, you pretended to be a hard-working little actress without any home."

"So I was!"

"And now I find you installed in this splendid house, and niece to a well-known wealthy man."

"So I am!"

"You pretended you knew how to ride, and you couldn't. You pretended you were fainting after you had come 'o. You pretended you had not met me before."

"But it was all transparent. What I said to dear old Mrs. Auning must have explained things to you. My mother made a love match with her Welsh singing-master. He was very good-looking and sang beautifully, but he hadn't a penny except what he earned, and my grandfather would never forgive her. I had three brothers and sisters, who all died. We were always poor, and lived in lodgings, and I had to be pupil teacher in my school, and hated it so that at last I went on the stage. That was after my father died. We had some very hard times together, my mother and I. She was the sweetest, best woman who ever lived. I loved her very dearly."

"She got up quickly and walked away to the window to dry her eyes. Then

TWO WOMEN

TESTIFY

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Their Health—Their own Statements Follow.

Haliburton, P.E.I.:—"I had a doctor examine me and he said I had falling of the womb, so I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. All the bearing-down pains have vanished. I have gained ten pounds in weight, the discharge is all gone, and I feel better than I have for a long time. I think any woman is foolish to suffer as I did for the sake of a few dollars."

"You can use my letter as a testimonial. It may encourage other poor women who suffer as I did to use your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. GEO. COLLCUTT, Haliburton, Lot 7, P.E.I.

New Moorefield, Ohio.—"I take great pleasure in thanking you for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had bearing down pains, was dizzy and weak, had pains in lower back and could not be upon my feet long enough to get a meal. As long as I laid on my back I would feel better, but when I would get up those bearing down pains would come back, and the doctor said I had female trouble. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was the only medicine that helped me and I have been growing stronger ever since I commenced to take it. I hope it will help other suffering women as it has me. she turned on Harry with a bright smile.

"I am neglecting you," she said. "Do have another cup of tea."

"Yes, please. But go on with your story."

"There is very little more. After my mother's death I got an engagement in America. There I met you. I was to open at Montreal in a good part. I did, and I made a success. What pleased me almost as much as your kind telegram wishing me luck, and the flowers you had sent to me. But the lady star I was supporting grew so wild over my success that she took me out of the part; and it was while I was breaking my heart about the injustice of it, that I had forwarded from the address of our old lodgings in London a letter from my Uncle Denzil's lawyer, suggesting that if I was a very good little girl I should in future, as a reward, make my home in Dorsetshire with my uncle. So I cut the stage, came home, stayed a little while with my uncle in London, and at last found myself here."

"I congratulate you," he said warmly. "You are delighted, of course."

She looked at him whimsically for a moment. Then she crossed the room to the door, shut it, and stood with her back to it.

"I am bored to death!" she exclaimed.

"Yet you owned you found the other life hard?"

"Very hard. Oh, I suppose I was born discontented. In Vale House I must not even mention the stage, which Uncle Denzil regards as the Pit of Tophet. Mrs. Warne would, I believe, faint if she learned that I had been an actress; she thinks earning one's living is a thing one ought to apologise for. She gives me lessons in deportment all day long. Her husband was a colonel, and she can not forget it, and talks about the service from morning till night. Uncle Denzil thinks a woman ought to have no opinions, and no occupation but looking after the house, playing the piano when there is nobody about to be worried by it, and perhaps a little polite tattling or coquet. Every now and then he entertains on a large scale for political meetings or for his tenants. But generally the whole house is done up in chintz bags, because he says the furniture has got to last his time and he cannot let it wear out. Sometimes the clergyman comes in of an evening, and sometimes the steward. When it is the steward, we have to play bridge, which I have never had time to learn, and "muff" dreadfully. Then Uncle Denzil's wrath is great. But even that is better than the usual thing—Uncle Denzil and Mrs. Warne playing chess or piquet or reading the papers, while I try to do fancy work, which I hate. Some day I feel I shall break out—dance a break-down on the dining-room table, and then go off and join a theatrical company to play old women or boys or anything—anything but prim Miss Morgan of Vale House."

"I really am dreadfully sorry for you," he said, laughing. "But surely the excitement of trying to kill yourself riding is something."

"I shan't have a chance of doing that any more. I persuaded the groom to say nothing about my adventure the other day. But this morning I changed my mind and told Uncle Denzil all about it myself. So my rides will be prohibited unless I get something as steady as an omnibus to carry me."

"Why did you tell him?"

"Because I wanted to see you!" she answered frankly. "If you only get on well with Uncle Denzil you can often come, can't you? He was very angry that I had not told him before, as he said that I ought not to let him be under an obligation to a stranger. I did not say that I had met you in America, because that was in my unregenerate acting days, which must be suppressed; but I told him that you were grandson to Mr. Gerard Worth, the railway king. Uncle Denzil loves rich people as much as Mrs. Warne loves lords and generals, and he immediately ordered the carriage to go and call upon you. It was most lucky meeting you like that. Were you going anywhere in particular?"

"No, I only went out because there was too much Sunday in the air indoors."

"You are not tired of Crayborne yet?"

"I love it," he returned with unexpected emphasis.

"And the strange adventures, the mystery, the romance, dragons in ambush, and fairy ladies in deadly peril you wanted to meet?"

He smiled, more at his own thoughts than at her words.

"Perhaps even Crayborne can furnish something in that direction," he answered.

She glanced at him quickly, and her color changed.

"Have you met Lady Anne Daubeneay yet?" she asked in constrained tones.

Before he could answer Denzil Warne entered the room, and asked his guest if he would care to see the pictures and smoke a cigar in the library before dinner.

"We can't play billiards," he explained, "because all my servants would resign if I touched a cue on Sunday; and the fact is that, being bred in Dorset, I don't care to. But I have a few first editions and family portraits which may interest you."

He led the way to a vast room lined with bookcases. The collection had been made by former Warnes. Denzil Warne himself had added to it, but only in the case of first editions, which would sell again at a higher price; he was a great book cover lover, but not a reader.

Out of the library was a circular room under a glass dome, and here some family portraits and a few seen and flower" pieces were hanging.

Harry's eyes at once flew to two pictures in the centre, full-length oil paintings of a man and a woman. His heart leaped as he recognized the latter. Tall, slender, and yellow-haired, with the soft fire of youth and dawning love in her blue eyes, it was Lady Anne Daubeneay, at 17, one.

"That was the most beautiful girl in England," he said. "She has the reputation of being the coldest woman alive. But I know a story about her which would disprove that."

"Will you tell it to me?" asked Harry. (To be Continued)

Suppose that the energy of a ton of radium could be utilized in thirty years, instead of being evolved at its invariable slow rate of 1,760 years for half-disintegration, it would suffice to propel a ship of 15,000 tons, with engines of 15,000 horse-power at the rate of 15 knots an hour for thirty years—practically the lifetime of the ship. To do this actually requires 1,500,000 tons of coal.—Sir William Ramsay, in London address.

Modern Railroading

Martin Clardy, of St. Louis, general solicitor for the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain railways, is one lawyer who sometimes objects to being interviewed. And when reporters are too insistent, Mr. Clardy has a stock story which he tells to shut off the interview. Says Mr. Clardy:

An irate shipper once entered the general offices of a railway company. Where's the general superintendent?

Out on the road, was the reply of the clerk.

Where's his assistant? This very angrily.

Gone to the ball game! snapped the clerk.

Then where's the vice-president and general traffic manager? Exploded the shipper.

Gone north for the summer, was the still indifferent reply.

Well, then, the angry caller fairly howled, who in thunder is running this railroad, anyway?

Oh, if that's what you want to know, replied the clerk, as he reached for another typewritten report, it's the newspapers.—Kansas City Journal.

OUTDOOR LIFE

Will Not Offset the Ill-Effects of Coffee and Tea When One Cannot Digest Them

A farmer says:

"For ten years or more I suffered from dyspepsia and stomach trouble, caused by the use of coffee. (Tea contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee) until I got so bad I had to give up coffee entirely and almost give up eating. There were times when I could eat only boiled milk and bread; and when I went to the field to work I had to take some bread and butter along to give me some strength."

"I doctored steady and took almost everything I could get on my stomach in the way of medicine but I got any better it only lasted a little while. I was almost a walking skeleton."

"One day I read an ad for Postum and told my wife I would try it, and as to the following facts I will make affidavit before any judge:

"I quit coffee entirely and used Postum in its place. I have regained my health entirely and can eat anything that is cooked to eat. I have increased in weight until now I weigh more than I ever did. I have not taken any medicine for my stomach since I began using Postum."

"My family would stick to coffee at first, but they saw the effects it had on me and when they were feeling bad they began to use Postum one at a time, until now we all use Postum." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Ten days' trial of Postum in place of tea or coffee proves the truth, an easy and pleasant way.

The albino is still one of the puzzles of science. Beyond the knowledge that albinism is due to a lack of the normal pigment in skin and hair the physiologist and pathologist are about as much at sea regarding the real explanation of this freak of nature as they were 100 or 1,000 years ago. As to the ultimate why of the problem—why the pigment is missing in the albino—there is nothing but a collection of unconvincing guesses. Regarding the statistics of albinism nothing satisfactory is obtainable except in two countries. In Italy the albinos number about one in every 20,000 of the population, whereas in Norway the rate is twice as high, with one in every 10,000.

The ropes used by Alpine climbers is of special manufacture, combining as far as possible the differing qualities of strength, flexibility and lightness. Three qualities are in general use, being made from Sisal, Italian and Manila hems respectively and occasionally, when cost is not a consideration, of silk. The latter, though very light and strong, is not so durable as the others. That which finds most favor among British mountaineers is known as Buckingham's Alpine rope; it is made of the best Manila hemp.

In the year 1864, Mr. McLeish recalls a committee of the Alpine Club made tests upon a number of ropes suitable for mountaineering. Of the two that were approved one was made of Italian hemp and the other of Manila. They both had a breaking strain of two tons and sustained the weight of a twelve stone man after falling from a height of ten feet. Non-mountaineers have sometimes considered this insufficient, but it is highly problematical whether the human anatomy could survive the sudden compression of a thin rope arising from any greater fall.—Fry's Magazine.

DUTY ON CEMENT WILL NOT LIKELY BE FURTHER REDUCED

Action of the Government in Remitting One Half of the Duty is Generally Considered to be Rather Drastic, and Further Reduction is not Probable.

Ottawa, Ont.—The Evening Citizen in commenting on the recent remission of 50 per cent. of the duty on cement says:

"It is wholly improbable that any further action will be taken by the government in regard to the cement duty. The action taken in remitting one-half of the duty is considered generally to be pretty drastic though certain interests in the west are representing that it does not go far enough. The situation which called for a reduction of the duty was a special case, to meet which exceptional action had to be taken. There is no reason to anticipate, however, as hinted in certain quarters, that it is the thin end of the wedge and likely to be further extended as regards cement or other commodities till there is full inquiry into the tariff generally."

The Citizen also prints a lengthy interview with Senator I.W.C. Edwards, president of the Canada Cement company, in regard to the situation. "The Canada Cement company has a large surplus stock on hand over all requirements, on which it would like to realize," said Senator Edwards when asked if it were true that the company, as is stated, is unable to supply the west with cement.

The senator would make no comment on the action of the government in reducing the duty on cement one-half for a limited period, nor did he care to say for publication what effect the transportation facilities of the country had on the delivery of the company's product.

"There has never been a time when the Canada Cement company has not been able to fill all its orders," the senator further said. "The plants included in the company were only running between seven and eight months of the year when the Canada Cement company was organized, but since that time they have been running the full twelve months of the year. This has given us the opportunity of filling large storehouses which we have located at various points in preparation for the busy season."

That whatever the other sixteen cement companies in operation throughout the country might do with regard to asking to government to rescind the duty-cutting decision, the Canada Cement company would take no part in such an appeal, the president of the company also asserted.

"There is one point which has been overlooked, though," he said. "The Canadian companies annually purchase a great quantity of paper bags for cement in the United States. These bags cannot be had in Canada, and they are forced to buy there, paying the full duty. Now, under this order of the government, United States manufacturers of cement will be able to ship their cement here, paying only one-half the duty on both cement and on the paper bags. Whatever else may be said about the cut, this will appeal to the ordinary man as unfair to the Canadian companies. We have to pay full duty on the paper bags while the American companies can ship them in here, filled with cement, and only pay half duty. The Canada Cement company may ask the government, with the other sixteen Canadian companies, for similar treatment in connection with the paper bags, but that is as far as it will go."

ALBERTA AND OIL

Expert Believes Some of World's Largest Fields are Located in Province

Calgary, Alta.—"I am convinced that there are good oil fields somewhere in southern Alberta, and also that the tremendous seepages in the Peace river district must have a fountain head that will make the man who discovers it one of the richest men in the world. Alberta will be the most talked of country in oil in all the world."

I. E. Suger, former partner of Rudolph Spreckles, of San Francisco, the man who discovered the Maricopa Midway oil fields of California, the largest oil fields in the world, is in Calgary, and voiced the opinion that Alberta would yet be the biggest oil producing country on the face of the globe. In the last 12 years Mr. Suger has drilled over 50 wells and built and operated two of the largest oil refineries in the world, and among oil men he is regarded as the greatest living oil expert today. He is here for the purpose of investigating the southern Alberta oil fields, and will go to Pincher Creek, behind him he has millions of dollars in capital of San Francisco oil magnates, he having been brought here at the instance of Calgary and Edmonton capitalists.

Miss Malecka Pardoned

London.—The Daily Chronicle's Warsaw correspondent announces that Miss Malecka has been pardoned by the Czar.

She will receive a passport and be escorted on a train by the police to the frontier, and not permitted to return to Russia.

The Russian high court has ordered the return to her English sympathisers of 20,000 roubles raised by them as bail.

Miss Malecka told the correspondent she would make her home and find work in England, the land of her birth and friends.

The Chronicle congratulates the Czar's government on Miss Malecka's speedy liberation, and says this action will foster more cordial feelings than ever between England and Russia.

Fishing Vessels Destroyed by Volcano

Seward, Alaska.—Passengers on the mail steamer Dora, which has arrived from the westward, after passing through a shower of ashes from the Katmai volcano, believe that several small fishing villages on the shore of Shikoff Strait may have been destroyed by the eruption. The revenue cutter service at Unataska has been asked to send assistance. Three slight earth shocks have been recorded on the seismograph at the University of Washington, indicating that the volcanic disturbance in southwestern Alaska, which has agitated the instruments in the observatories throughout the United States in the last three days, is still in progress.

Modify Sentences on Suffragettes

London.—The sentences on the militant suffragettes Mrs. Pankhurst and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, joint editors of "Votes for Women" were modified by Reginald McKenna, home secretary, and the prisoners will finish as first-class misdemeanants the terms of nine months' imprisonment to which they were condemned at the Old Bailey sessions on May 22, instead of serving as ordinary criminals. The labor members of the house of commons had been pressing the home secretary for some time to grant the suffragettes the privilege of political prisoners.

New Zealand Likes Our Autos

Ottawa.—That Canadian made autos are growing in popular favor in New Zealand is a statement made in a report to the Trade and Commerce Department agent of that country. In 1909 one firm which makes low priced cars shipped 19 cars to New Zealand. In 1910 the number was increased to 95 and for the year which closed on March 31, no less than 366. At the time the report was written, 192 Canadian made automobiles were enroute to Australia. One shipment of 8 cars made from Montreal represented a value of approximately $100,000.

Sam Hughes for the return of the old gun captured at Bunker Hill by the English in 1776. For many years it has been at the citadel in Quebec. It is possible in view of the peace centenary the gun might be returned.

The rest of the members of the crew of the Carpathia receive a month's pay.

WE HAVE RESULTS

Hon. George E. Foster Enthusias Over Growth of Canada at Luncheon

London.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster was a guest at a luncheon of the Royal Colonial Institute at Fishmonger's Hall, the gathering including many mercantile and commercial magnates and most of the leaders of the London Canadian circles. Earl Grey presided, and Foster's was the only speech. He spoke for half an hour, sketching the wonderful rise of the Dominion, and the gathering was unmistakably impressed. "We may have gone wrong according to Cobden's theories, but by George, we've got results," was one of his striking phrases, and another was "I wish somebody would buy the word 'emigrant.' When a man leaves Britain for Canada he has simply moved."

In an eloquent peroration, Foster appealed for combined wisdom and experience, to the end that all parts of the empire be brought together. "Within the last 25 years the empire has cultivated its organization," said the distinguished Canadian. "Shall we lie down and say we are unable to make an organization which shall keep this empire one?"

Squatters Starving

Peace River Crossing, Alta.—At Hudson's Hope, in the Peace River country, a number of pioneer squatters are eagerly awaiting the arrival of the steamboat "Peace River." Their food supply is running very low, so low that they have felt the pinch of starvation. For some time now they have been living upon flour and what game has fallen in the way of their traps and rifles. All the meagre doling of rations will be over just as soon as the steamer arrives, for she is carrying stores and provisions and supplies of all kinds. She left this point recently on her trip to Hudson's Hope.

Boosting Farm Congress

Ottawa.—Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture in the Alberta government was in Ottawa in connection with the World's Dry Farming Congress to be held in Lethbridge this summer. He will discuss the approaching congress with the federal government and provincial government with the object of securing support for the congress. At a recent session of Parliament a vote for the encouragement of the congress was included in the estimates.

Local Government to Assist

Calgary.—The Provincial Government has offered to give $20,000 toward assisting the people of Frank to move to a new location provided that the Dominion Government gives $30,000.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON XII.—SECOND QUARTER
FOR JUNE 23, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Luke vii. 36-50.
Memory Verses, 37, 38 or 40—Golden Text, 1 Tim. 1, 15, R.V.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This anointing of Jesus by a penitent woman is recorded only by Luke. There is another anointing later in His ministry which is recorded by Matthew, Mark and John, but not by Luke. That was at Bethany, and Mary, the sister of Martha, anointed Him for His burial. This was probably at Nain, and the name of the woman is not given. Both anointings were in the houses of men called Simon, but the one is called Simon the Pharisee and the other Simon the leper. In today's lesson the woman washed His feet with penitential tears and anointed them. At Bethany Mary anointed His head as well as His feet, but there is no record of her washing them. They are manifestly two wholly different incidents at different times and in different places, but Jesus Christ Himself is the centre in each, as He is in all the bible, and everywhere and at all times revealing God the Father. In our lesson He is in the house of one who knew Him not nor treated Him with common courtesy, as we learn from the words of Jesus in verses 44-45, "Thou gavest me no water for my feet; thou gavest me no kiss, my head with oil thou didst not anoint." At Bethany He was in the house of those who loved Him. This Pharisee reminds us of the one in chapter xviii, 11, 12, and in verse 30 of our lesson chapter we read that the Pharisee and lawyers rejected the counsel of God against themselves. In chapter xvi. 14, it is said that the Pharisee derided Him and His teaching. He went wherever He could do good and heal a sick soul or a diseased body, never thinking of Himself or of His unkind treatment by others. He did not hesitate to touch the world in any form for its good, but it was as separate from it as light from darkness. He came to save sinners, to seek and to save the lost, and, inasmuch as He Himself said, "There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth," (Luke xv. 20). He was no doubt full of joy when he found any one like this woman, or the woman of Samaria, or Nicodemus, or Zaccheus, or the penitent thief willing to be saved. Perhaps she had heard His "Come unto me" or His words to another, "Daughter, be of good comfort; thy faith hath made thee whole" (Matt. xi. 28; ix. 22). Somehow she had heard and believed and had wasted her opportunity to thank Him. Now it had come within her reach and she hesitated to do all that was in her heart. It mattered not to her that the house was that of Simon the Pharisee; she was not thinking of either Simon or his house, but of just one person who had made her blind to all but Himself. She knew her sin better than Simon did, and so did He to whom she had now come. How unusual such tears and such devotion, and how refreshing all must have been to Him. She washed His feet with tears, but He had washed her soul by His precious blood, soon to be shed for her. See her humility at His feet behind Him; see her contrition, weeping over His feet and thinking how her own had wandered. Some one has said that the essence of her heart was distilled to bathe His feet and the glory of her head untended to furnish Him with a towel. Had she kingdoms to give they would have been laid at His feet, but she did her best, and He accepted. She did not send by another. She rendered personal gratitude. She was so occupied with Him that Simon's frowns were nothing to her. There is no record of a word she uttered; but, oh, how the tears, the disheveled hair, the precious ointment did talk for her! She had no thought of calling any one's attention to her; she cared for no one's opinion, she was endeavoring to thank Him. He accepted her gratitude. He looked at her, he took her part. He spoke to her and said to her, "Thy sins are forgiven; thy faith hath saved thee, go in peace." (verses 48, 50). Her name we know, not, but it is written in heaven (Luke x. 20). May the joy of sins forgiven be a reality to us and a whole souled devotion to Him be seen in our daily lives. Simon thought that he knew her, but that Jesus did not know her, whereas Jesus knew both of them as they did not know themselves. He would have saved Simon as readily as He did the woman if Simon had confessed himself a sinner, but there is neither salvation nor a Saviour for self righteous people. He came not to call the righteous; those who think they are righteous, but for all who know themselves sinners and bankrupt there is salvation. Many who are called Christians seem never to have been forgiven much, for there is no devotion to Him in their lives. How very different the devotion of this one, or the woman of Samaria, or Paul, or Peter or John! Why are we not constrained by such love as His? Do we know Him?

FEAR 200 PERISHED IN ALASKA

Six Villages Destroyed by Eruption of Katmai Volcano, Travellers Tell

Seward, Alaska.—That about 200 persons have perished in the destruction of six villages as a result of the eruption of Katmai volcano was the fear expressed by persons on board the cannery tender, which arrived here.

The villages, most of whose inhabitants were native fishermen, are Kanatuch, Savanoos, Douglas, Cold Bay, Kamgamute and Katmai.

The tender reported that at last reports the eruption had ceased, but sharp sparks today caused a renewed sharp sparks have caused a renewed.

It is impossible to get any details but the tender brought word that when it last heard the village of Uyak on Kodiak Island was safe. It was reported previously that this was destroyed and it is now hoped all settlements on this island escaped without damage other than getting a covering of volcanic ashes.

There is some apprehension over the fate of Afognak Island, which lies between Kodiak Island and the Katmai volcano. No word has come from there.

The entire atmosphere of Alaska seems charged with gases, vegetation everywhere being killed during a sharp drizzle.

Chemists declared the rain seemed to carry a strong charge of sulphuric acid.

Wherever the rain touched vegetation it blighted it. Even iron frames of buildings were slightly eaten.

It is impossible at this time to get an accurate estimate of the damage or number of persons destitute, since it has been impossible to approach the vicinity of the volcano. It is believed, however, the property loss is tremendous and hundreds of lives lost.

TO MAKE US LIVE LONGER

French Scientist Claims He Can Artificially Extend Existence

Paris.—There is considerable discussion among scientists in France in regard to the announcement of Professor Metchnikoff, of the Pasteur Institute, that he is studying the effectiveness of a microbe called "glycobacter" as a preventative of old age.

Professor Armand Gautier, who is a member of the Academy of Sciences as well as the Academy of Medicine, and Professor Bertillon, while admitting interest in Professor Metchnikoff's study, are inclined to its practicability.

Professor Metchnikoff says he has found a beneficent microbe in the intestines of a dog which, if implanted in the intestines of man, would probably generate sufficient sugar to destroy the human intestinal microbes, which are responsible for the maladies of old age.

Knows of No Trade Relations

London.—In the House of Commons the Colonial Secretary, Hon. Lewis Harcourt, replying to J. Norton Griffiths, said he was unaware of any trade negotiations between Canada and Germany. He also said the home government had received no general proposals for a whole Empire preferential tariff.

GOLD FOUND IN NORTHLAND

Reports Come From Prospectors Who Say Precious Metal Found at Fort Liard

Ottawa.—News that gold has been found in the northwest territories at the head of the Liard river above Fort Liard has been received at the geological survey, but nothing of an official nature has yet been ascertained regarding the authenticity of the reports.

The reports, declared Professor R. W. Brock, director of the survey, simply come from prospectors who have come down from country and state they have found gold. There has been no rush to the country as yet, and should not be until something more official is known.

Mr. Brock also stated that 30 parties from the geological survey had already gone out to different parts of the country for survey work.

Ten more would be sent out within the next few days.

In past years we have only had about 30 parties in the field, he said, but the work is developing, and we find we need more now. This is altogether outside of the parties which have gone out on ethnological exploration under the ethnological branch of the survey.

FEARS BLOCKADE

Hon. Duncan Marshall Believes Railways Will be Tied up Again

Ottawa.—That the west next season may have to face a grain blockade fully as serious as that which prevailed last season, is the opinion of Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture for Alberta.

Mr. Marshall bases his predictions on the fact that present weather conditions indicate that the yield in the west this year will be quite as great as it was last year. There are, he says, more than 15,000,000 bushels still to be shipped from the west, and he considers that the handling of it will take up the greater part of the summer.

Mr. Marshall states that the full rolling stock of the railways will be utilized throughout the summer in the handling of the western crop of last season, and that on this account the repairing of the rolling stock for next season will be a problem of great difficulty.

Road Ready for Crop

Cobalt, Ont.—Major R. W. Leonard, chairman of the Transcontinental railway commission, after a trip over the road said that with the construction of 180 miles more of road, the line will be completed to Winnipeg. There is a possibility that this will be accomplished in time to permit of moving of grain westward from Manitoba this fall, carrying it southward from Cochrane on the Toronto and Northern Ontario line.

Church Union Spectacular

Winnipeg.—Addressing the Anglican Synod of Rupert's Land, Rev. G. Thomeloe, Bishop of Alaska, made an attack upon church union.

"At the most," he said, "it would be largely on the surface and spectacular."

The Bishop also made a plea for harmony between the east and west.

Show This to Your Friends

Two fine samples, one of bromegrass and the other rye wheat, were left in our office this week. The bromegrass was brought in by Mr. W. F. Sick and measured three feet six inches in height, the grass being taken out of the park. The rye was brought in by Mr. C. Stuart of Hunterville and measured four feet seven inches. These two instances show the tremendous growth which is taking place in this district this year, and with the fine downpour of rain which we had on Friday night last and the beautiful warm days and nights which we are having, prospects for a splendid harvest were never better in this district. Didsbury sure is holding its own as the best mixed farming and grain raising district in the whole of Alberta.

SUMMER SKIN TROUBLES.

Sunburn, blistering, and irritation are the commonest form of summer skin troubles, and Zam-Buk ends these very quickly. It works in two ways. As soon as applied, its antiseptic powers get to work and kill all the poison in a wound, a sting or a sore. This generally ends the smarting and the pain. Then Zam-Buk begins the healing process, and fresh healthy tissue is built up. For sore, blistered feet, sore hands, heat rashes, baby's heat spots, sore places due to perspiration, etc., you can't equal Zam-Buk. It also cures cuts, ulcers, abscesses, piles, and all inflamed and diseased conditions of skin and subcutaneous tissue. Druggists and stores everywhere sell Zam-Buk, 50c. box. Use Zam-Buk Soap also, 25c. per tablet. All stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

All Made Clear

A woman missionary in China was taking tea with a mandarin's eight wives. The Chinese ladies examined her clothing, her hair, her teeth, and so on, but her feet especially amazed them. "Why," cried one, "you can walk and run as well as a man!" "Yes, to be sure," said the missionary. "Can you ride a horse, and swim, too?" "Yes." "Then you must be as strong as a man!" "I am." "And you wouldn't let a man beat you—not even if he was your husband—would you?" "Indeed I wouldn't," the missionary said. The mandarin's eight wives looked at one another, nodding their heads. Then the oldest said, softly: "Now I understand why the foreign devil never has more than one wife. He is afraid."

The transition from winter's cold to summer's heat frequently puts a strain upon the system that produces internal complications, always painful and often serious. A common form of disorder is dysentery, to which many are prone in the spring and summer. The very best medicine to use in subduing this painful ailment is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard remedy, sold everywhere.

A Poet Successful and Lazy

Aspirants to success who are discouraged by the very early rising of Coke and Kant should think of the successful poet Thomson, and be comforted. For Thomson was one of the laziest men that ever lived, and seldom rose before noon.

And yet in "The Seasons" he managed to give us one of our finest descriptions of a sunrise. It is said of him that he would eat the sunny side off the peaches in his garden with his hands in his pockets, but even such late rising and his Castle of Indolence did not prevent his becoming famous.—London Chronicle.

No Music at Windsor Castle

At Windsor Castle, if anywhere in England, one might expect to find the inhabitants punctilious in the observance of all the usual outward demonstrations in loyalty to the crown. But the Colonel in command of the Second Life Guards, the regiment at present stationed at Windsor, has found the townspeople remiss and has taken the only means open to him of punishing them.

One of the three regiments of Household Cavalry is always stationed at Windsor, and for generations it has been the custom of the townspeople to go to the barracks after church parade and listen to the regimental band. One Sunday recently Colonel Ferguson, the commanding officer, was present in the barrack square when the band played the national anthem at the close of its programme and was so struck with the apparent disrespect of many of the civilian listeners who did not raise their hats or salute in any fashion that on the following day he issued an order prohibiting the band from playing in the square till further orders.—McCall's Magazine.

I'm surprised, Tommy, said the father, reprovingly, that you should strike your little brother. Don't you know that it is cowardly to strike anyone smaller than yourself? Yes, answered Tommy. But when you spanked me yesterday I was too polite to mention it.

INDIGESTION RIGHTLY CURED

By Toning up the Stomach to do the Work Nature Intends it Should Indigestion should not be neglected for a moment, for by depriving the body of its proper nourishment through the food, the trouble grows steadily worse. Neither should stimulating medicines, which ruin the already weak stomach by making it work beyond its strength, be used; nor pre-digested foods, which do not excite a flow of the digestive fluids, and by disuse cause the stomach to grow weaker. Nowhere is the tonic treatment by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills more clearly useful. The principle of this treatment is to enable the stomach to do its own work by building up the blood and giving tone to the nerves. When these are once restored to their normal health indigestion disappears and the cure is permanent. Here is an experience with this treatment. Mr. John Brenental, Calgary, Alta., says: "For years I was an almost constant sufferer from indigestion, and naturally because there was much nutritious food which I could not eat owing to the pain and discomfort which followed, I was becoming much run down. I tried many medicines but none of them helped me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking a few boxes I was much better and in the course of a couple of months was quite well, and could eat any food set before me."

If you are a sufferer from indigestion, or any trouble due to bad blood or weak nerves, you can begin to cure yourself today by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An Absent Minded Professor

A very absent-minded professor was busily engaged in solving a scientific problem when the nurse opened the library door and announced a great family event.

A Boon for the Bilious.—The liver is a very sensitive organ and easily deranged. When this occurs there is undue secretion of bile and the acid liquid flows into the stomach and sours it. It is a most distressing ailment, and many are prone to it. In this condition a man finds the best remedy in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills which are warranted to speedily correct the disorder. There is no better medicine in the entire list of pill preparations.

One day Mark Twain was being shaved by a very talkative barber and was forced to listen to many of his anecdotes.

The barber had to stop his razor and when he was ready, brush in hand, to commence again, he asked: Shall I go over it again?

No thanks, drawled Mark. It's hardly necessary, I think I can remember every word.—Everybody's.

BECAUSE MRS. GOODINE USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Doctor said she would have to undergo operation, but Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

Central Kingsclear, York Co., N.B. (Special)—"The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation." So said Mrs. J. V. Goodine, of this place. But she smiled as she made the remark, for all need of the dreaded operation had vanished. Mrs. Goodine used Dodd's Kidney Pills and is a well woman. Given in brief and in her own words, Mrs. Goodine's experience is as follows:

"I was very miserable with Kidney Disease and unable to do my own work. The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation. After using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I was all better and able to do my work. This statement is true, as you can easily prove by enquiring among my neighbors."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the kidneys; cured kidneys strain all the poisons and other causes of disease out of the blood. These Dodd's Kidney Pills are a natural cure for all Kidney diseases and all ills caused by diseased kidneys.

Daddy's Weak Spot

Walter was 8 years old. He had been very naughty. In point of fact he had emptied a bottle of red ink over his mother's white Pomeranian—just for fun of course.

Now the price had to be paid for the enjoyment, and father was taking a hand in the game.

Little Lucy, Walter's sister, was in the room at the time of the conflict. Thud, thud, thud, fell father's hand, punctuated by Walter's wallings.

At last Lucy could stand it no longer. Bursting with indignation, she stamped her tiny foot on the floor.

"Tread on his corn, Wal," she cried. "That'll stop him."

"Why, bridget, you surely don't consider these windows washed?" said the lady of the house reproachfully.

"Sure, I washed 'em nicely on the inside, 'mum, so ye can look out," replied Bridget, "but I intentionally left them a little dirty on the outside so them ignorant Jones children next door couldn't look in."

The Japanese Beggar

Directly a policeman of one station describes a beggar he kicks him away, no matter whether, and another policeman of another station catches hold of the fellow and throws him out of his area, and so on, with the consequence that beggars after wandering from one ward to another and back again ultimately settle down in the regions of the least resistance, namely, the suburbs. The latest happenings prove that the suburbs are fast becoming the centre of mendicancy and criminality. The Mainichi therefore begs the authorities "to adopt a positive instead of patchwork police" advocating an exhaustive study of the problem.

Another plan is that the teachers of primary schools be called upon to impress upon the emotional youngsters the utter despicability of beggars, so that the younger generation may consider beggars as those deserving to be kicked out for their laziness or to be maintained by public charity, rather than as poor fellows meriting individual assistance.—From the Tokio Mainichi.

AROUND THE TOWN

Dr. A. McGillivray, Toronto, convener of Sabbath School conventions of the Presbyterian church in Canada, was visiting with Rev. D. and Mrs. Marshall on Thursday and Friday last and while here addressed the officers of Knox Presbyterian Sunday school.

Mrs. Macpherson and Mr. Archie Macpherson of New York arrived in Didsbury last week to take up their residence with Mr. J. H. Quirk, proprietor of the Golden West hotel. Mrs. Macpherson is Mr. Quirk's mother and Archie is a step brother.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sick, Didsbury, and Messrs. R. G. and C. H. Hendrickson of Edmonton leave together on Wednesday for a trip to visit friends and relatives in Minnesota. Mr. Sick, who is town constable, has been granted thirty days' leave of absence by the town Council and his son Carl will take up his duties while he is away.

The report of the electric light expenditure in last week's issue contained an item crediting the Canadian Fairbanks Co. with $490.00 for machinery. This was a mistake and should have read $4.90, quite a difference. We are also asked to state that there is a great deal of material, including 200 bags of cement, cement brick and other stuff to the credit of the town which was not shown in the report because the committee appointed to value it has never sent in this report.

Will Assist the Town

That a beautiful little park can be made of the piece of C. P. R. land on Railway avenue was the opinion of Mr. McHarg, roadmaster of the C. P. R., expressed to a representative of the Pioneer last week when the Made-in-Canada train visited Didsbury. Mr. McHarg also stated that he would see that the town was supplied with all the necessary trees and shrubs free of cost to the town and also have an expert come up and lay out the grounds if the town wished. He also thought that the piece of land that had not been plowed up should be done the same as the other and the ditch on the east side filled in by levelling the land. He stated that he did not think there would be any objection from the company if this was done as the ditch was no good anyway. With the assistance promised by Mr. McHarg the town Council should not have any trouble in beautifying this piece of land.

train which leaves Red Deer at 4:20. A number of them were stopping at the Arlington Hotel and as was natural to a lot of young fellows, were talking over the game in their room at a rather late hour, and of course there was some joking and laughter as well, but nothing to cause trouble to any one. However, as those who were not staying at the house were leaving, the proprietor laid a complaint against four of the members of the team and had the chief of police take their names and they had to stop over to answer to the charge of disturbing the house. The action taken would not have looked so bad if the proprietor had warned the boys first that they were disturbing other people, but according to those who were present no such warning was given until they were leaving, when the above action was taken.

Taken altogether the hotels did not seem very anxious to accommodate any of the visitors besides the football team and quite a number had to use shanks mare until train time.

About forty of the team's supporters took in the game, a large number of them being ladies.

Honorably Acquitted

The case of causing a disturbance in the Arlington hotel in Red Deer laid against four members of the Didsbury football team, and which came up before Mr. Wallace, J. P., at Red Deer on Tuesday, resulted in a complete vindication of our boys, the magistrate dismissing the case after hearing a large number of witnesses for the defence, and taxing the costs of the case, $9.50, against the proprietor of the house.

Red Deer has not gained much popularity with the large number of people who went from Didsbury to see the game, not only because of the above case but also because of other incidents connected with the hotels.

The committee who are getting up the Dominion Day celebration in Red Deer want the Didsbury football team to play there on that day, but the reception they got will not help to make them very anxious to take part.

to the Didsbury boys. The game was scheduled for 7:30 sharp and the Didsbury team and a bunch of their supporters was ready on the field with the referee to start the game, but Olds as stated above was not there. The locals kicked the ball around for a while expecting every minute that the visitors would be sporty enough to come down and play the game, but their hopes were dashed to the ground by a telephone message stating that the team was not coming down and no reason whatever was given for this unsportsmanlike conduct. However, the locals were lined up by the referee and a goal kicked which gave the game to Didsbury, although they would sooner have gone up against their opponents for the decision.

RED DEER ALMOST OUT-CLASSED

What proved to be one of the closest, hardest and best fought battles this season on Central league football grounds at any town in the district was played at Red Deer on Monday night by the Didsbury team and the Red Deer senior team, which is composed of the pick of four other teams and also contains three ex-champions from the old Calties and the balance all old country war horses. The game was a clean cut exhibition of football and was a credit to both teams, although Didsbury should be given a large share of praise as the score of 3-4 in favor of Red Deer was practically a victory for them considering that they were playing away from home against an aggregation of picked, seasoned players, and also the fact that one score was made by the Red Deer pigskin chasers because someone called an off side when the ball was in goal-keeper Good's hands and the Didsbury boys paused to let the referee place the ball and the Red Deer players piled in on the goal keeper and put the ball through, which unfortunately was allowed by the referee. The referee, who also acted as timekeeper, gave the advantage to Red Deer of ten minutes extra play because the score stood 2-3 in favor of Didsbury when time should have been called. Forty minutes each way was the time supposed to be played.

Frank Kaufman and D. Black, who were on the forward line, were responsible for the score for Didsbury, the former making two goals and the latter one. The locals played a good combination game but gave their opponents too many openings through not covering their men better, although as the score shows the winning team did not gain much advantage through this. The Didsbury boys kept the sphere down in the enemy's territory a good deal of the time and it was only the good defence of their friends of the opposite side which saved them from being beaten to a frazzle. The Red Deer boys also made some good getaways, but Lorne Good, the local shot stopper, or in other words the goal keeper, was on the job all the time and the shooters were foiled in their attempts at piling up the score.

An unfortunate incident happened in the night while the players and their supporters who went with them were waiting for the early morning
